An overarching rare disease 501c3 charity organization, Rare Storytellers leverages the power of music and storytelling to UNITE, EDUCATE and FUEL research in Rare Disease. We are a recognized leader in integrating patient stories, live music and science!

Rare Storytellers has reached thousands of future physicians, researchers and allied healthcare professionals, while simultaneously uniting rare disease patients, musicians, clinicians and researchers. We are proud partners with Medical College of Wisconsin (MCW)— a Rare Disease Center of Excellence as recognized by the National Organization of Rare Disorders, Inc. (NORD) Together with MCW's Mellowes Center for Genomic Sciences & Precision Medicine, we are bringing Rare Storytellers to a global audience. Synthesizing stories, songs and science, these events are uniquely designed to educate, raise awareness and empower rare disease patients.

Over two dozen distinct rare diseases are currently represented through our flourishing network of patients. With sponsorship from Horizon Therapeutics, Rare Storytellers recently welcomed Mr. Peter Frampton to this network! Parents, adult patients and young adults transitioning into self care and advocacy are sharing their personal and compelling narratives about the challenging patient journey. Our growing team of Musical Ambassadors infuses inspiring performances into each event and every event includes a scientific session.

In keeping with our commitment to fuel research, sponsorship dollars are funneled into our Grant Research Fund. Grants are reviewed by our Scientific Advisory committee and awarded annually. We offer two levels of sponsorship per event:

Lead Vocals: $10,000
Back Up Vocals: $5,000
